

influence: may have thought & perhaps in a moment of doubt, to some friend who did not intend to make mischief at the time (but who were the less able to give opinion
- clearly,) that she thought it would be for me if I had less of such irritations ground near to her in my neighbourhood in my hand. for it was told to me the very day it was said. & it was as usual
- greatly repeated of being said in my for saying it. but even that was said in reply to some thing - & perhaps if you will bear behind a screen I heard the conversation you would have seen that it was not harmful or intended to be
- as possible, & perhaps natural, that there should have been some jealousy on the part of the influence - with respect to you. I should not wonder & should not much blame - for I know what that passion is - & how easily it may be excited where one loves much & is very dependent on. I can feel it with respect to you & to her. I am meant to wrong either of you - But I must be silent

