

"Good" W.A.S.

Dear Mr King

Thanks for your note & the Enclosed Slip - which latter could not have been written by an eye witness. or the "dud" must have been in the "basket".

The writer has made my habit "blue" & my figure "marble" My habit is black, & my figure Too much the reverse of marble & Eusebius riding made easy.
And as for my darling feet

he never saw me ride on he would never attribute
"Lich" to me, who carefully pick out the safe matter by more adventurous spirits which I am philosophically waiting in the man for my "little opportunity" rather than venture my 14 stone & my ignorant horsemanship on any thing which might be considered "daring".
No - the water, if he saw.

The note "at the tomb of Pugil" evidently mistook some other fine looking woman for me.

Will you find time and inclination to dine with us tomorrow at 7 o'clock (Friday 6th) with the ladies join us in the evening -

Yours very truly

Arthur C. C. C.
